Personal Input Pod™

The PIP is a revolutionary biosensor that helps you combat stress.

Communicating wirelessly with a software application that runs on your mobile phone, PC or MAC, it provides a unique stress management solution in a highly portable, consumer friendly package, at a consumer friendly price.

In today's fast-paced world, the PIP empowers you to take control of your stress, teaching you to relax in a fun and engaging way.

Key Features

- > No wires, no fuss!
Bluetooth connectivity enables operation with a wide variety of phones and handheld devices
- > High performance, completely self-contained solution in a tiny package
- > Robust, scientifically validated measurement of stress via the electrodermal response
- > Recharge the internal battery via a standard wall plug or a computer USB port for maximum flexibility

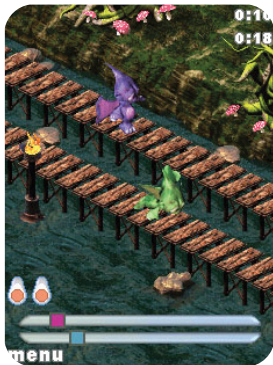

Software applications

Relax & Race

Relax & Race is a revolutionary racing game for mobile phones and desktop PC's, where victory is achieved only by out-relaxing your opponent!

You must discover how to control your stress, and learn not only to relax, but to relax in a stressful environment.

Software applications

Stormchaser

Bring out the sun in this unique mood-based game. The weather is mapped to your stress levels, encouraging you to find your inner calm and tame the storm.

As you relax, the wind lessens, the rain eases off, and the clouds clear until you are basking in warm sunshine.

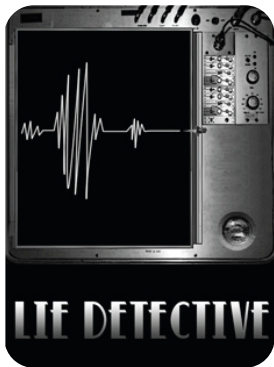

Software applications

Lie Detective

How will your friends and family react to a grilling from the Lie Detective?

Responding to stress, less than truthful answers to probing questions send the needle of our classic polygraph display racing.
